My Web Portfolio

Design Decisions

The overall theme of this website is minimalistic with navigations that is functional and easily recognised.

Each page follow same structure with a big header image using a carousel element to achieve this. At first I tried a hero image and gave up on that. I also tried a background image but it covered the whole page.

I created a sticky footer and embedded that to each page just to make all the pages uniform to each other.

I decided to do a css for each individual page as I was getting confused with some repeated elements. I figured this way was easier for me.

COMPONENTS:

NAVBAR - Located on the right side of the screen with hover effect, background colour changes when mouse is pointed on the text word

FOOTER - Two sections using flexbox, much like the navbar with quicklinks to each page and social icons on the bottom section.

IMAGES- The images in portfolio section is in the main content of this page using flexbox and grid.

CONTACT - The contact page has a form layout where user can input their contact details and a message then clicking the submit button. .

KEY CHALLENGES

Everything was difficult and due to time constraint there were are lot of things left out such as;

- Responsiveness of page
- Different type of fonts
- Different animations
- Different backgrounds and other images
- Different layout
- Colour pallette
